From the desk of our Executive Director Anita Bowen

I bet you are with me in that spring can't come soon enough this year! It has certainly been a winter to remember with record low temperatures and plentiful precipitation. That means that there's been more time indoors than normal where we had to find activities to pass the time. And, even though I love being home and going through closets and cabinets as I shared with you in my last column, when you start to go back to a closet that you just cleaned out, you know you are going a little stir crazy!! At the time of the writing of this article, our front yard is in the form of a small lake that could freeze over at any time...all depending on what the rest of this fickle winter brings!

Challenging weather is tough on businesses, too, and BCSSI is always considering what programs and services should be modified or cancelled to keep everyone safe. It certainly makes us sad when the weather keeps our customers from coming through our doors in Lebanon and Zionsville, or prohibits us from seeing you in your own home or on a transit vehicle. And, all of us look forward to warmer temps to see everyone out and about again. During the deep winter months, we typically spend lots of time doing year-end reports as well as planning for the New Year. Since we are beginning a new five-year Strategic Plan (4 goal areas highlighted in the last Senior Sounds), we have spent extra time focusing on the initial steps we want to take in this first year of the Plan.

I thought I would take a couple of minutes in this issue to share a little more detail about Goal #1 which is to Expand our Program Options and Attract Diverse Ages. We'll highlight Goals 2-4 in future issues. So, within Goal #1 is an opportunity for BCSSI to hear from you about the things you would like to see us bring to the community. We took a little time in January to do some brainstorming with customers in our Lebanon office, and we will do that in Zionsville on Friday, March 22nd. If you live in the Zionsville area, please join us for lunch, conversation and surprises! We are now taking reservations.

During 2019, we will be looking at ways to bring more meaningful engagement to you, as well as individuals whom we haven't even met yet. That will also include stretching our programming into evening and weekend hours sometimes, so that those individuals who are not available during weekdays, don't miss out. With that being said, we believe that our current satisfied BCSSI customers are our very best ambassadors, so we are counting on you to invite someone new to come hang out with us this spring, summer and fall...oh, we'll have things happening next winter, too...and sure hope that we won't have to cancel so many activities and services. When you live in Indiana, you just get what you get, right? And rest knowing that "tomorrow" it will probably be something very different!

In the meantime, I'm going to be keeping an eye on my little front yard lake, and hope that soon it will attract a happy family of ducks. I am definitely ready for signs of spring to make their appearance.

Until Next Time, Anita

BCSSI 2019 Annual Celebration

“Ruby Memories”

BCSSI hosted its 2019 Annual Celebration Meeting on February 20. Community members, board members and staff celebrated the agency’s 2018 accomplishments. Attendees enjoyed a delicious breakfast prepared by Poe’s Country Garden Catering. Anita Bowen, Executive Director, gave her annual update...

“In reading through some of the on-line descriptions for and characteristics of a Ruby, it became apparent that it was perfect to use in our theme for this 40th Anniversary Celebration. While you may typically think of the gems such as the Ruby as important in marriage anniversaries, we have used it here to highlight our organization’s 40 years of Ruby Memories because the bright red color of this durable, lustrous and rare gem exemplifies who “we are at BCSSI”.

To serve a community for 40 years with the same mission at heart, and to be continuing many of our original programs is RARE. Though we have had growing pains through the years, and withstood unique challenges with each passing decade, we have remained committed to helping individuals in Boone County age well and to keep the generations connected. That must mean we are DURABLE. The people that have made up the BCSSI family of staff members and volunteers serving Boone County and beyond are shining examples of human beings who want to make this little corner of the world a better place...they are LUSTROUS.

And, if you were to look at a typical ruby through a microscope, you would find thin mineral inclusions called needles. You might see that there are short needles, long needles, some slender needles and some wider. They might appear to be woven tightly together. I got a visual (and a smile) when I thought of our customers. They bring all kinds of characteristics to BCSSI...all shapes, sizes and personalities. Some challenge us more than others, but all help us learn, grow and become better. Truly, Boone County is a tightly woven community and by interacting with new persons all the time, we can insure continuous quality improvement...and the strength of BCSSI for another 40+ years.”

Thank you to everyone who supported BCSSI during 2018, giving us the opportunity to serve more than 2,600 individuals age 60 years and older through a variety of services and programs. To receive a copy of our annual report please contact our office at 765-482-5220 or go to booneseniors.org.

If any of these words describe you, then you have the characteristics of a volunteer and BCSSI would love to have you join our Friendly Visitor program. Volunteers provide a valuable service to our senior community. Whether you can donate an hour a week or three hours five days a week, you're providing more than a service, you're offering companionship and support to someone in need. Currently we have clients who need a friend. As a volunteer, you have the opportunity to learn new skills, develop lasting friendships, and take pleasure in knowing you are helping others. If you feel you would be a valuable asset to this program or feel like you could add an additional client, call today!

A Friendly Visitor makes regular visits to home bound seniors to offer support, friendship, and concern. Visits are one day per week for a minimum of one hour. For more information contact Barb Carrell, Director of Volunteers and Activities, at 765-482-5220 or 317-873-8939 or bcarrell@booneseniors.org.

The History of 'APRONS'

I don't think our kids know what an apron is. The principle use of Grandma's apron was to protect the dress underneath because she only had a few. It was also because it was easier to wash aprons than dresses and aprons used less material. But along with that, it served as a potholder for removing hot pans from the oven.

It was wonderful for drying children's tears, and on occasion was even used for cleaning out dirty ears. From the chicken coop, the apron was used for carrying eggs, fussy chicks, and sometimes half-hatched eggs to be finished in the warming oven. When company came, those aprons were ideal hiding places for shy kids. And when the weather was cold, Grandma wrapped it around her arms. Those big old aprons wiped many a perspiring brow, bent over the hot wood stove. Chips and kindling wood were brought into the kitchen in that apron.

From the garden, it carried all sorts of vegetables. After the peas had been shelled, it carried out the hulls. In the fall, the apron was used to bring in apples that had fallen from the trees. When unexpected company drove up the road, it was surprising how much furniture that old apron could dust in a matter of seconds. When dinner was ready, Grandma walked out onto the porch, waved her apron, and the men folk knew it was time to come in from the fields to dinner. It will be a long time before someone invents something that will replace that 'old-time apron' that served so many purposes. Send this to those who would know (and love) the story about Grandma's aprons.

REMEMBER: Grandma used to set her hot baked apple pies on the window sill to cool. Her granddaughters set theirs on the window sill to thaw. They would go crazy now trying to figure out how many germs were on that apron. I don't think I ever caught anything from an apron - but love. --Hawk Seeker of Truth--

The Boone County Senior Services Foundation board will host the 2019 Legacy Dinner at Dull's Tree Farm, Thorntown on Saturday, May 4th. This year's theme is "Denim, Diamonds and Blues". A reception will be held at 6:00PM followed by delicious meal and program at 6:30PM. Special entertainment will be provided as well as a silent auction! Come casual and wear your boots and jeans! Proceeds from the event will support the Foundation's mission which is to build a fund from gifts and bequests so that BCSSI can continue serving older adults in our community. Tickets can be purchased for $60 per person or $360 for a full table sponsorship (6 seats) . Event sponsorships are $650 each and will include a table for six and special name recognition during the event. RSVP by April 19th! For more information contact Sonya Shoup, 765-482-5220 or sshoup@booneseniors.org.

Thanks to the support of our donors, the Foundation recently gifted $25,000 to BCSSI. The money will be used to support the 2019 BCSSI annual budget and several of the agency activities planned for later this year.

BCSSI and the BCSS Foundation welcome all gifts of any size. Both organizations are 501(c)3 organizations and your donation may be tax-deductible. We hope that you will consider gifting to us in the future.

You Can Still Gain Tax Benefits from Charitable Donations

Like most people, you probably know several organizations worthy of your philanthropy, and you may well have contributed to them, perhaps on an annual basis. In the past, when you've made charitable donations, it's been a win-win: You were able to provide support to a worthy organization and you received some valuable tax benefits. But with the passage of the new tax laws, things may have changed considerably for many people. Are there still tax benefits to making a charitable donation?

Here's some background: Previously, you may have been able to deduct your charitable donations if you itemized deductions on your income tax return. So, for example, if you were in the 25 percent tax bracket and you gave $1,000 to a qualified charity, you may have been able to deduct $250.

But under the new tax laws, the standard deduction is almost doubled for 2018, to $24,000 for joint filers, and $12,000 for single filers. As a result, far fewer people are likely to itemize their deductions. If you're in this group, you may find that you have less incentive, at least for tax reasons, to make charitable gifts.

However, receiving a tax deduction is not the only tax benefit of making a charitable gift. If you own an IRA and you're 70 ½ or older, you generally must start taking withdrawals – technically called required minimum distributions, or RMDs – from your traditional IRA. (Roth IRAs are not subject to RMDs until after the death of the owner.) If instead of withdrawing the money, the IRA owner decides to transfer the funds directly to a qualified charity, the distributed amount can be excluded from the IRA owner's income. So, in effect, you can get a sizable tax benefit from your generosity. In fact, you may be able to move up to $100,000 from your IRA per year to an eligible charity and have it count as your RMDs, even if the amount donated is more than the required minimum withdrawal.

Even if you aren't 70 ½ yet, you might still gain some tax benefits from certain types of charitable donations. When you itemized, and you donated appreciated stocks, you were generally allowed a charitable deduction for the full fair market value of the stocks on the date of the transfer, even if your original cost was only a fraction of that value. Now, if you don't itemize, that charitable contribution is not deductible, but you can still avoid the capital gains taxes you'd have to pay if you sold the securities, rather than donating them.

Finally, you could name a qualified charity as a beneficiary of your IRA or 401(k). This can allow the assets to pass free of income tax to the charitable group.

Given the increased standard deduction resulting from the new tax laws, many charitable groups are worried about the potential loss of contributions. Nonetheless, as we've seen, you can still find ways to get some tax benefits from your own charitable gifts. And you'll still get the same satisfaction from supporting a good cause.
